ESKENDER BARIIEV
Head of the Board

2022 marked the onset of Russia's full-scale military aggression against Ukraine, presenting numerous challenges and trials for Ukrainian society as a whole. It was a year of adaptation and resilience for Ukrainian citizens in the conditions of war.

Despite the shifts in direction, the team at the Crimean Tatar Resource Center (CTRC) swiftly adjusted to the new working conditions, drawing on its experience with hybrid formats and occupied territories to aid others effectively.

Amidst these circumstances, the support of partner donor organizations played a crucial role. The Crimean Tatar Resource Center emphasized that its activities were committed to its mission of fostering unity within Ukrainian society, attracting the attention of the international public to support Ukraine, and countering Russia's influence in global institutions.

Throughout 2022, the Crimean Tatar Resource Center (CTRC) continued its systematic organizational development, the "Strategy of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center" was revised, analysed and extended until 2023.

Notably, the CTRC systematically updates the clickable diagrams "Victims of the occupation of Crimea", which are permanently available on the organization's website in 4 languages, and provides real-time data on hostages taken by Kremlin, missing persons, and casualties.

The CTRC systematically updates the clickable diagram "Classification of people, responsible for human rights violations in the occupied Crimea", which is permanently available on the organization's website and displays lists of people who violate human rights in Crimea in the course of their professional activities.

In 2022, an electronic register of human rights violations and war crimes was developed.

Additionally, the CTRC enhanced its Communication Strategy in 2022, with the help of which changes were made to the approaches to the formation of content, leading to an increase in social media followers.

In 2022, a Fundraising Strategy was also devised to bolster the organization's financial standing in 2023.

In 2022, the CTRC acquired observer status at the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change, and representatives of the organization took part in the work of the UN Framework Convention Conference (COP-27) in Sharm El Sheikh (Egypt) for the first time.

Our priorities remain the following: ensuring the collective rights of the Crimean Tatar people and the individual rights of all residents of Crimea; carrying out human rights protection activities; developing draft regulatory acts; supporting cultural and educational initiatives; implementing monitoring and analysis of the components of sustainable development of Crimea; implementing informational and educational activities.

In 2022, collaboration with the State Service of Ukraine for Ethnic Policy and Freedom of Conscience which, resulted in progress toward implementing the Law of Ukraine "On Indigenous Peoples of Ukraine", including the adoption of two regulatory and legal acts by the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine: The Procedure for securing the legal status of the representative body of the indigenous people of Ukraine and depriving such status and the Procedure for conducting consultations of the executive authorities with the representative bodies of the indigenous peoples of Ukraine.

We are focused on achieving the strategic goals of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center through our institutional programs, promotions, and events. It is this approach that guarantees the effective provision of human rights, the deoccupation and reintegration of Crimea, formed at the strategic sessions and focus groups of the CTRC. The programme-based approach ensures transparent management of funds and the solution of specific tasks and the achievement of measurable results.

In 2022, the CTRC continued to engage in communications with diplomats and parliaments of various countries to garner support for Ukraine's defence against russia's military aggression, in particular to protect Ukrainian sky.

We are grateful to everyone who believes in the Crimean Tatar Resource Center and helps us, our friends, experts, and partners, for supporting the CTRC in 2022.

The team of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center has demonstrated that it can work in various crisis conditions, including during the hot stage of the war. Together we are fighting for the future of the country, common values, fighting for the deoccupation of Crimea and protecting the rights of our citizens.

Together to victory!

About us

who we are

The Crimean Tatar Resource Center is a public organization created in 2015 to safeguard the collective rights of the Crimean Tatars as an indigenous people and the individual rights of all residents of Crimea in order to achieve sustainable development.

our mission

The Crimean Tatar Resource Center is a public organization that operates at local, national, and international levels. Its primary objectives include the deoccupation, reintegration, and sustainable development of Crimea. This is achieved through countering aggression, genocide, and discrimination, as well as by realizing the collective rights and interests of indigenous peoples of Ukraine. The organization is also dedicated to protecting human rights, monitoring and analysing the components of Crimea's sustainable development, and conducting informational, educational, and advocacy activities. Additionally, it supports cultural, educational, and scientific initiatives.

our vision

The activities of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center contribute to the deoccupation and reintegration of Crimea. Results of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center's work contributed to peace-building, restoration of justice, ensuring the sustainable development of Crimea in Ukraine, protection of the rights of indigenous peoples of Ukraine and human rights, and strengthening of democratic institutions. Activity of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center led to an objective perception of the situation in Crimea at the Ukrainian, European and global levels.

The uncertainty of the moment of deoccupation caused the detailing of the vision for two states: before deoccupation and after. Each of them is presented in a separate section of the Strategy.

our values

- rights of indigenous peoples of Ukraine;
- resistance to aggression;
- human rights;
- non-violent struggle;
- rule of Law;
- sustainable development.

we pay special attention to

- protection of the rights of the indigenous peoples of Ukraine and their representatives;
- preserving and developing the national identity of the indigenous peoples of Ukraine and national minorities;
- protection of Crimea's resources, as the homeland of indigenous peoples of Ukraine;
- anti-discrimination.

main goal

Preventing the completion of the attempted annexation of Crimea by actualizing the problem of its occupation at the national and international levels and attracting more partners and supporters for joint activities.

special objectives

- 1. Promoting the protection and implementation of the rights of indigenous peoples of Ukraine.
- 2. Promoting the protection and implementation of human rights.
- 3. Promoting the deoccupation and reintegration of Crimea.
- 4. Promoting the protection of the Crimean environment.
- 5. Promoting self-organization of the population of Crimea.

Our team

ESKENDER BARIIEV
Head of the Board

The CTRC team has demonstrated that it can work under various crisis conditions, including hot war conditions. We continue to fight against Russian occupation, which is the root cause of crimes against humanity.

Nowadays, the CTRC is the voice of the occupied Crimea. We are doing everything to make this voice heard both nationally and internationally.

ZAREMA BARIIEVA
Manager

LIUDMYLA KOROTKYKH
Lawyer

For me, working at the CTRC is an opportunity, using the international human rights protection system, to seek justice for the victims of the occupation administration, as well as to contribute to the exercising of the collective rights of the Crimean Tatar people and the development of a democratic Ukraine.

It is important to popularize the topic of Crimea among the people of Ukraine. It is thanks to the coordinated and systematic work of the Center that we manage to tell millions of people about the situation on the peninsula and involve them in our activities.

TETIANA SAVCHUK
Communications Manager

VIKTORIIA LIALIUSHKO
Accountant

CTRC makes a huge contribution to the restoration of the territorial integrity of Ukraine. I am happy to be involved in this!

Our team

ANTON OPANASENKO
Lawyer

For me, working at the CTRC is not only a means of professional growth as a lawyer but also a direct contribution to achieving historical justice for the Crimean Tatar people. As the indigenous people of Crimea, they have repeatedly offered support to the Ukrainian people during difficult moments in our shared history.

OLEKSANDR STOIETSKYI
Communications Manager

It is not enough to simply perceive information, it is also necessary to think about it critically. The main mission of the CTRC is to inform the world about the situation in Crimea.

SERHIY PARKHOMENKO
Manager

CTRC is a powerful non-governmental organization in the field of deoccupation of Crimea. I help to develop proposals to counter propaganda in Crimea.

VOLODYMYR LIASHENKO
Lawyer

Crimea is Ukraine! Protection of the rights and freedoms of Crimeans is the contribution of the CTRC to the liberation of Crimea from occupation.

VALERIYA YARMOLENKO
Communications Manager

Working at the CTRC allows me to benefit in the fight against the occupiers in the information field, help spread information about the indigenous peoples of Ukraine, and dispel myths surrounding Crimea.

ANNA KRAVCHENKO

Head of the Friedrich Naumann Foundation for Freedom in Ukraine

In difficult times of war, it is very important for international organizations to cooperate with reliable partners who, in addition to meeting strict administrative requirements, accurately understand the needs of society, especially minorities, and are ready to protect their rights. CTCRC has been such a partner for us for many years. With our support, in the first year of Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine, the CTCRC did a great job in documenting human rights violations, in particular the rights of indigenous peoples of Ukraine. This contribution is invaluable and will undoubtedly help in restoring justice and investigating the crimes of the aggressor.

AYDER KHALILOV

USAID/ENGAGE Senior Program Manager

Program for promoting public activity "Engage!" is proud to support the activities of the Crimean Tatar Resource Center. We believe that the CTCRC makes a very important contribution to educational and expert work for the return of the temporarily occupied Crimea and the protection of the rights of the Crimean Tatar people. Advocacy efforts of the Center both inside Ukraine and on the international arena are an example of coordination of efforts and a professional approach. We are glad to be around and help the CTCRC to attract and educate citizens about the important issues of the deoccupation of Crimea.

INNA PIDLUTSKA

Deputy Executive Director of the International Renaissance Foundation

The Crimean Tatar Resource Center (CTRC) is our long-standing and important partner. Thanks to the cooperation of the Center and the International Renaissance Foundation, the world learned more about the situation in Crimea temporarily occupied by Russia, about crimes of Russia and violations of human rights, in particular about repression against the Crimean Tatars, about the damage caused to the environment, as well as about what needs to be done already now at the Ukrainian and international level to stop it. Cooperation with the CTCRC is a contribution to our joint struggle for the future of Ukrainian Crimea.

Development of the CTRC

The Crimean Tatar Resource Center is systematically improving its activities.

Within the organizational development of the CTRC, the "CRIMEAN TATAR RESOURCE CENTER STRATEGY 2021–2023" was revised.

The organization has developed a Fundraising Strategy and a new Communication Strategy, updated the website and is actively working on increasing followers in social media.

In its activities, CTRC uses system management, as well as project management with the help of software.

Employees of the organization regularly participate in trainings in accordance with their line of work in order to improve competence and qualifications.

In 2022:

CTRC manager Zarema Bariieva took part in the "Integration dialogue workshop" training in Sofia, Bulgaria, as well as in the 75th Salzburg Global Seminar "Connecting and Supporting Ukrainian Civil Society in Time of War" in Austria.

Communications manager Tetiana Savchuk took part in the seminar "Press freedom: Challenges in the digital age" in Germany and in a video content creation training in Kyiv.

Lawyer Liudmyla Korotkykh took part in the "Adaptive and Responsive Programming" training.

Communications manager Oleksandr Stoietskyi participated in the analytical school for eco-activists "Exposing collaborators, russian assets and fraudsters using the system based on open data RuAssets" in Kyiv.

The entire CTRC team took part in a practical online workshop involving local resources, organized by the public activity promotion program "Engage" and in a workshop on human centred design.
